How NANOG is run

NANOG™

Special Acknowledgment

Saying Goodbye to our Executive Director, Edward McNair at NANOG 89.

Edward has contributed so much in his 5 years with NANOG. Including, but not limited to:

- moving to an entirely virtual experience during Covid
- rebranding the organization, launching a new website, and developing tools to bring the program and community together.
- outreach expansion, and inclusion efforts

Diversity, Equity + Inclusion Programs

NANOG™

Pursuing a more inclusive Community

To support our efforts of diversity, equity and inclusion. NANOG has done the following:

- Partnered with a DEI consulting firm to provide independent Ombuds support to our community.
- Ombuds are onsite during events and can be reached via email at anytime. In addition they provide reports to board and community on our DEI progress.

Our Definition of DEI

- Diversity - The practice and quality of including and involving different intersectional perspectives including different visible and nonvisible identities (such as culture,skin tone, heritage, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, age/generation, socio-economic class, ability, religion, language, immigration status, and veteran status) to ensure multiple perspectives are represented.

- Equity - Recognizing past exclusion and working to achieve general inclusion for everyone by offering opportunities by ensuring policies, systems, processes, and practices so all feel validated and have opportunities to be successful.

- Inclusion - Intentional, ongoing effort to ensure every individual and all their identities feels, safe, welcomed, valued, so they can fully participate, are listened to and respected in all aspects of organizational work.

DEI Activities at NANOG Meetings

To support our efforts of diversity, equity and inclusion, the NANOG DEI Committee has been working to both educate our community and bring attendees together to build community. Some examples include:

- Table Topics to promote networking at lunches (both fun and technical)
- Solicit DEI speakers, with follow-up discussion at a DEI lunch
- Organize Women in Tech Mixers
- Promote various affinity groups - https://community.nanog.org/
