

2007-13

Removal of ISP Immediate Need from End User

Rob Seastrom, David Williamson, and Owen DeLong
ARIN Fall 2007

Policy Text

Policy Text

Delete section 4.3.4, which reads:

4.3.4 Additional considerations

End-users may qualify for address space under other policies such as immediate need [4.2.1.6] or Micro-allocation.

from the NRPM.

Effect

Effect

- Essentially a no-op language clean-up

Effect

- Essentially a no-op language clean-up
- Immediate need is, essentially irrelevant to end-users since adoption of the micro-allocation and multihoming policies.

Effect

- Essentially a no-op language clean-up
- Immediate need is, essentially irrelevant to end-users since adoption of the micro-allocation and multihoming policies.
- Removal of this section will not disable the other end-user policies. It simply removes an incorrect reference to an ISP-oriented policy from the end-user criteria.

2007-13

Removal of ISP Immediate Need from End User

Rob Seastrom, David Williamson, and Owen DeLong
ARIN Fall 2007